The diagram illustrates the layout for a roll label square. It features three concentric rectangular lines: an innermost green line, a middle red line, and an outermost blue line. Three horizontal double-headed arrows are positioned between these lines. The top arrow is green and spans the width between the green lines. The middle arrow is red and spans the width between the red lines. The bottom arrow is blue and spans the width between the blue lines. The text for each line is centered between the lines it defines.
